Pre-law & Pre-medicine

Neither Pre-law nor Pre-medicine is a major program of study. If you would like to attend law school or medical school, a host of options are available to you as an undergraduate. Law schools routinely accept students with degrees in the humanities and social sciences. Medical schools routinely accept students with degrees in the natural sciences. This is not to say you must major in one of these areas. You should consult with your academic advisor to determine your best course of study.
