Start Your SUNY Search

Every student has different priorities when choosing a college. As you explore SUNY campuses, consider what matters most to you.

What type of location do I prefer?

Do I want to be near a city, in a suburban community, in a small town, or surrounded by nature?

What size campus feels right for me?

Do I prefer a larger campus with more space or a smaller campus where everything is closer together?

What is the right size student population for me?

Do I prefer a smaller student population or a larger campus community?

What kind of residential experience am I looking for?

Consider residence halls, living-learning communities, townhouses, and other housing options

What type of learning environment fits me best?

Do I prefer a smaller student-to-faculty ratio or a larger one?

What kind of campus life am I looking for?

Consider clubs and organizations, athletics and recreation, study abroad, undergraduate research, internships, leadership opportunities, and other ways to get involved.

Tip: As you explore campus profiles, highlight the things that matter most to you and add campuses that stand out to your SUNY shortlist.

Build your SUNY Shortlist

As you explore SUNY campuses, keep track of the campuses you want to learn more about.

NYS COLLEGES AT CORNELL

Cornell University is the land-grant university for New York State. It is home to four contract colleges and schools that were created by an Act of the New York State Legislature. Each contract college enjoys the benefits of being part of a private, Ivy League university, while being connected to The State University of New York.

The land-grant mission of the University includes a commitment to make contributions in all fields of knowledge to improve the quality of life in the state, the nation, and the world. In return, the state contributes a portion of the operating expenses of the contract colleges. This allows the contract colleges to keep the cost of tuition lower for New York State residents, making their Cornell degrees more affordable.
