Spring 2014

The information in this publication is current as of Spring 2014, but is always subject to change as we strive to enhance our program offerings. If you are interested in a specific program, please contact the SUNY campus that offers it for the most up-to-date information.
Dear Student,

Globalization is changing the way we live and work. An understanding of languages, politics, culture and economics has never been more crucial to the future of our world. It is difficult for us to even imagine your lifetime trajectory as the world continues to “shrink” and “flatten.” But we do know this: your need for international experience and the cross-cultural competence and critical thinking that it brings will only increase as time goes by.

Education abroad is one of the most effective ways to gain global skills and access to personal and professional opportunities in your future. In fact, analysis from the SAGE Research Project of more than 6,000 alumni over a period of fifty years demonstrates a significant long-term impact on an individual’s career path and global engagement. Education abroad enhances employability and lifetime earning power.

The State University of New York is strongly committed to making education abroad accessible and rewarding for SUNY students, as well as the many students across the United States who choose SUNY study abroad programs for their quality and affordability. SUNY institutions partner with many of the world’s leading universities to offer superior learning experiences delivered in safe and comfortable environments. SUNY offers an incomparable array of high-quality study abroad opportunities. With more than 600 programs of in 50+ countries, spanning all seven continents, there is a program to meet virtually every need.

Please take a few moments to let your imagination carry you to the new and exciting destinations you will find described within this guide. When you find the ones that interest you most, I encourage you to contact the SUNY campus offices that administer those programs for answers to your inevitable questions. The sooner you start planning the more likely you are to fulfill your dream of studying abroad. You are to be congratulated for taking the first step, now keep going – the best is yet to come.

Study abroad changed the course of my life, and it will transform yours as well!

Bon voyage,

Sally Crimmins Villela

INTRODUCTION

Overseas programs are as close to you as a State University of New York (SUNY) campus or web site. The following are some frequently asked questions about study abroad with SUNY. Please take a look before you begin to explore the many study abroad opportunities we offer. If you have any questions, feel free to contact one of the SUNY campuses for additional assistance. Also be sure to visit SUNY's study abroad directory online at: www.sunysystemabroad.com

Why study abroad?

Study abroad can be one of the most rewarding and exciting experiences in a college student's career. Getting to know another culture, living in a new environment, learning a new language, meeting people: all these add up to a kind of education different from what can be acquired on campus. Equally important for American students is the discovery of their own country—its customs, its traditions and values—as they come to see it from a foreign vantage point. No wonder that so many returnees from overseas study say that the experience changed their lives.

There is indeed ample testimony to the fact that students learn well and mature quickly when studying in a different culture. And as all regions of the world become more interdependent, it is increasingly apparent that the truly educated person is one who has had first hand acquaintance with other cultures, both as preparation for responsible citizenship and, in a more practical way, as a basis for a career. In the words of former Senator J. William Fulbright, author of the Fulbright exchange program, "perhaps the greatest power of educational exchange is the power to convert nations into peoples and to translate ideologies into human aspirations."

Where are the State University of New York’s study abroad programs offered?

SUNY currently offers more than 600 overseas study programs in more than 50 countries: in North and South America, Africa, Asia, Western and Eastern Europe, Australia and New Zealand. Programs range from 2-3 week intensive courses to a semester or academic year abroad. Courses are available in more than 100 subjects, ranging alphabetically from aboriginal studies and aerospace engineering to western philosophy and women's studies. While many programs focus on language learning and are conducted in the language of the host country, many others are conducted wholly or partly in English.

Who can study abroad?

State University overseas study programs are, with some exceptions, open to all SUNY and non-SUNY students, with eligibility ranging from first year to graduate level. For many undergraduates, the best time to study abroad has traditionally been during the junior year; however, well-prepared sophomores, and occasionally freshmen, are eligible for some programs. For everyone, careful preparation and consultation with the campus Director of International Education are essential for determining where and when to go.

What does it cost?

Total expenses are competitive with other highly-rated study abroad programs in public and private universities across the country. Program costs are usually only slightly higher than on-campus costs of tuition, room and board (exclusive of international air fare)—and in some countries expenses are actually less than they would be on campus. Study abroad students pay SUNY tuition (in-state or out-of-state, depending upon New York State residency) plus costs, which vary from program to program. Matriculated students at a State University of New York campus register on their home campus for programs offered at any other campus. They are thus able to maintain residency and eligibility for financial aid. (NOTE: Upper-division students registering at community colleges for overseas programs should consult with their registrar's office about appropriate credit.)

What about financial aid?

Most financial aid can be applied to overseas study, with the exception of some program costs and fees. For specific information students should consult the campus financial aid officer and the Director of International Education.
HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

Inside this book, you will find all the information you need to begin your search for the perfect study abroad program. But first you'll need to know how to use the information given – what does it all mean?

This book is organized into two distinct sections: (1) Semester and Academic Programs, and (2) Short-Term Programs, which includes summer, winter, and intersession programs. Each section is organized alphabetically by country, then divided alphabetically by city and divided again by the name of the program. This makes it easy to find a specific university or city you might be interested in. Once you find a program that interests you, you can use the following features, which give you more detail:

Term: This indicates when the program takes place. Exact dates are not given; for specific information, please contact the SUNY campus that administers that program.

Program Description: Each program offers unique areas of interest and has distinct characteristics. Use this description to decide if a program meets your basic needs, has the qualities you desire, and offers the academic areas you are interested in. Remember, these are short, concise descriptions and are not meant to be complete. If there is a program that has some of the items you want, but not all, contact the appropriate SUNY campus to find out more about it.

Language of Instruction: Many programs have a language requirement; others do not. Please check to make sure you are able to take classes in the language of instruction. Note: There are programs that offer instruction in English even if the native language is not English. We have included a list of these programs later in this introduction.

But don’t think that if you can’t speak a foreign language that you can’t enroll in a foreign language program! Some non-English based programs are designed for students who have little or no experience with the language(s) of instruction offered. It is important to recognize that sometimes the best environment in which to pick up or brush up foreign language skills is through immersion! Embrace the challenge, and you will be surprised by the opportunities available to you!

Whatever your interests or expectations may be, please take a look at the Eligibility Requirements section to see what the specific language requirements are for each program.

Eligibility Requirements: These are requirements set by the SUNY campus that administers each program. At times, these standards depend on requirements given by the foreign institutions. If you have any questions regarding the requirements listed, please contact the appropriate SUNY campus.

Credits: Credits are listed as undergraduate or graduate, depending on the level of credits available for a specific program. Unless otherwise indicated, all credits given are for the length of that program. If no graduate credit levels are given, they are not available. We have included a list of programs offering graduate credits later in this introduction.

Application Deadlines: Deadlines are given by semester, with the deadline for the fall semester listed first unless otherwise indicated. Where appropriate, we have indicated that late applications will be considered.

SUNY Campus: Each program lists the campus you should contact for additional information. If you have any questions at all about any of the programs listed here, please don’t hesitate to contact the Office of International Programs at the appropriate SUNY campus using the information listed on the next two pages. They are happy to help in any way possible.

Escuela Fronteras

Country: Chile

Location: Santiago, Chile

Campus: University at Albany

Term(s): Fall, Spring

Language of Instruction: Spanish, English

Program Description: The best way to master a language is with native, college certified teachers using a proven curriculum in a small class environment! Our classes are capped at 6 students per instructor which means you will have individual attention and improve your language skills faster. You can participate as a total beginner or with many years of speaking the language under your belt.

For the semester-length option, students will take a total of 15 credits of Spanish (five 3-credit classes). The Spanish language classes are modular, and go in sequence, allowing students to start at any level (from beginner to advanced) then progressively take higher level courses. Students may opt to take a Chilean History and Culture class instead of their final language class. Other elective classes may be available, including Medical Spanish, Spanish for Business students, Spanish for Law students, etc.
The program offers daily scheduled activities in and around Santiago. Participating in these activities is an excellent way to practice your new language skills in a fun and exciting environment. Weekend trips are also offered where you can discover Chile's fantastic landscapes and outdoor sports. We'll also visit historical landmarks and experience the arts and culture that make Chile so unique.

Spanish Language Intensive
Country: Costa Rica
Location: Heredia
Campus: SUNY Geneseo
Term(s): Fall, Spring, Summer, Academic Year
Language of Instruction: Spanish
Program Description: This program is designed to provide students needing to meet Spanish language requirements the opportunity to study the language in a full immersion setting. Spanish language courses at the beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels are offered at the Centro de Estudios Hispánicos of Universidad Nacional. The professors are experienced and fully accredited Universidad Nacional educators whose specialty is teaching Spanish as a second language. Semester programs are offered Spring and Fall. In the summer, five-week and twelve-week options are available. Program participants receive three field trips (two during the summer) that complement the academic component of the program and enrich their experience of the culture of Costa Rica and the Hispanic world. These outings highlight different elements of Costa Rica, including its natural biodiversity, pre-Columbian heritage, Colonial past, religious tradition, arts and folklore.
Eligibility Requirements: Students must be in good academic standing with an acceptable disciplinary record. Preference will be given to student and working teachers.
Credits: 9-15 undergraduate
Application Deadline: October 1, Spring; March 1, Fall and Academic Year; March 15, Summer

Universidad Nacional
Country: Costa Rica
Location: Heredia
Campus: SUNY Geneseo
Term(s): Fall, Spring, Academic Year
Language of Instruction: Spanish
Program Description: This program is especially designed to offer outstanding undergraduate and graduate students at advanced levels of Spanish language proficiency the opportunity to become fully immersed in a Costa Rican higher education program where Spanish is the principal language of communication. Students selected to participate in the Universidad Nacional program are registered in regular UNA courses and face the same situations handled by Costa Rican students, thus having the greatest opportunity to achieve near-native oral and written Spanish language proficiency. Participants can take UNA courses in any of the many disciplines it serves. For those with a Spanish major, UNA offers over 40 different courses, including numerous courses on the Literature of Spain or Latin America; Linguistics, Sociolinguistics, Semiotics, Phonetics and Phonology courses; Literary Analysis and Theory courses; and courses about Spanish Language Pedagogy. Consult the Universidad's catalogue [http://www.una.ac.cr/] for course... descriptions. Students live with Costa Rican families residing in Heredia neighborhoods in the vicinity of Universidad Nacional. These families have been chosen for having met all the requirements established by UNA, including completion of an orientation and training program. Living with local families enhances a participant's immersion in the culture of the country but also maximizes Spanish language proficiency.

Eligibility Requirements: Students will need to be recommended by at least one Spanish language faculty member. An overall grade point average of at least 3.0 and a GPA of 3.5 in Spanish are required, as well as a demonstrated oral proficiency at an advanced level.

Credits: 15-30 undergraduate

FRANCE

Institute for American Universities
Country: France
Location: Aix-en-Provence
Campus: SUNY Fredonia
Term(s): Fall, Spring, Academic Year
Language of Instruction: English, French
Program Description: IAU is one of the oldest and largest education abroad programs in Europe. It provides students with academic programs of intellectual substance and international focus in the fertile foreign setting of southern France for a year, a semester or summer. Any student open to learning and willing to grow will return home transformed-changed for the better in unexpected ways. Founded in 1957 IAU has served as an academic center for more than 700 North American colleges and universities, and continues to make study in France available to students who recognize the life-long value of living in and exploring a culture other than their own.
There are three programs available to students through IAU. The Aix Center in Aix en Provence is a program designed for liberal arts majors with beginning to advanced French language skills. All levels of French language and literature courses are offered, along with a variety of liberal arts courses taught in English or in French. Marchutz School of Art is an internationally known painting school in the south of France that takes an interdisciplinary and holistic approach to art education. Students take an art criticism seminar along with painting and drawing courses taught in French. These students are strongly encouraged to take a French language course at the Aix Center in addition to these courses. Field trips to Paris and Giverny during the fall semester, and Venice during the spring semester are included in this program.
The French Honors Program is designed for French Majors and other students with demonstrated advanced level French. Students who participate in the program can expect to conduct their entire IAU experience in French including their classes, homestay with a French host, interaction with IAU professors and faculty, internships and special French excursions. French Honors students will be enrolled in a French Honors Seminar and also have the unique opportunity to enroll in up to two courses at the University of Provence, Aix-Marseille with French University students. After completion of the program students will receive a certificate in French Honors Abroad.
Eligibility Requirements: Sophomore standing with a minimum GPA of 2.5 at the time of enrollment
University of Franche-Comte, Besançon
Country: France
Location: Besancon
Campus: SUNY New Paltz
Term(s): Fall, Spring, Academic Year
Language of Instruction: French
Program Description: Students study French in one of the top language schools in France, the Center for Applied Linguistics, part of the Universite de Franche-Comte. Besancon is unique in that it has few residents who speak English, thus providing an optimal learning environment for students wishing to perfect their French language skills. Besancon has a rich political and cultural history - as evidenced by its charm and varied architectural styles - and a modern, vibrant aura as the center of France's microelectronics industry. The beautiful Doubs River, the surrounding picturesque villages, and the numerous music and film festivals make this one of the true cultural meccas of France. In the past the program included field trips to Paris or Southern France.
Eligibility Requirements: Students must have completed at least one full-time semester of college level study in order to apply. Minimum GPA of 2.5 required. Must have completed the equivalent of Int. French II prior to participation.
Credits: 12-18 undergraduate

University of Grenoble Exchange
Country: France
Location: Grenoble
Campus: University at Albany
Term(s): Fall, Spring, Academic Year
Language of Instruction: French, English
Program Description: The University of Grenoble exchange allows students with fluent French to directly enroll in coursework in all areas and in advanced classes in French as a second language. Some additional training for students with less background in French may be available in courses designed for foreign students. English majors will find a full program in literature and other topics all taught in English by the university's English department.
Students who wish to study for a full academic year who have at least one year of college-level French or the equivalent may enter the GUEST program, which will provide intensive training in French in the fall and then integrate students into regular university courses in the spring. Also available in the spring will be more advanced French courses designed for non-native speakers. Topics include grammar, conversation, writing, French society and culture, approaches to literature, literary topics, and translation.
Students who come to Grenoble for one semester may enroll in courses designed for foreign students offered by the CUEF for one month along with classes designed for foreign students, or, if sufficiently advanced, may enroll in regular university courses. The language classes will meet in the evening, so students will be free during the daytime to attend the other courses.

German Universities of Applied Sciences (UAS7) Study Program (SP)
Country: Germany
Location: Berlin; Bremen; Cologne; Hamburg; Muenster; Munich; Osnabruck
Campus: University at Albany
Term(s): Fall; Spring
Language of Instruction: German or English, depending on program of study

Program Description: If you want to focus on the opportunity to spend a semester at a UAS7 member institution, the Study Program (SP) is right for you. Most students who spend a semester at a UAS7 member as a visiting/exchange student are able to transfer their credits back to their home institution. Since the German "summer semester" runs from March-July, it works better for most U.S. and Canadian students than the German "winter semester" (October-February), which in most cases will overlap with your spring term. You may also choose to enroll in an intensive German course before the term starts or (depending on availability) enroll in an accompanying German course during the semester. We'll provide information on affordable language courses to successful applicants. Successful SP applicants are eligible for a DAAD Scholarship or a UAS7 Travel Scholarship. All successful applicants receive a full tuition waiver and the benefits provided to exchange students at the host UAS. Full information about the structure of the program is here, including project descriptions, schedule, and requirements: http://www.uas7.org/scholarships/study-program.html

INDIA

Semester Internship Experience with Capgemini
Country: India
Location: Chennai and Various
Campus: University at Albany
Term(s): Spring 2014, Fall 2014
Language of Instruction: English
Program Description: UAlbany partners with India’s National Management School to offer summer and semester opportunities to study abroad, while gaining valuable experience as part of a global internship program. The program, Becoming India Savvy at The National Management School, is a Semester-in-India, 15-week, 15-credit program targeted at US Citizens or Permanent Residents who are junior- or senior-year undergraduate MIS majors in the US. One of the highlights of this unique, study-abroad program is the 300-hour, 8-week internship with Capgemini—the world’s fourth largest software company—in its Mumbai (formerly Bombay) office.

Becoming India Savvy participants earn 6 credits for the internship, a stipend of about $4500 from Capgemini and hands-on experience working on live projects under the direct mentorship of senior Capgemini executives. The crowning glory of this unique program, Study-Abroad and Overseas-Internship program is the possibility of a job offer in the US with Capgemini upon successful completion of the Internship and graduation from the home institution. The remaining seven (7) weeks in India involve taking three courses (9 credits) at the host institution, The National Management School, Chennai, India.

The last week of the program will take students to Delhi for an understanding of the India’s political capital and from there to Agra for a day-tour to visit the Taj Mahal. Students will have opportunities to take short excursions, on their own, to towns such as Mahabalipuram, Pondicherry, Mysore, and, Goa during weekends. While some of the city visits are coordinated and conducted by The National Management School, you will have the opportunity to find your own way in other such towns/places as part of your training to “become India savvy.”

More information may be found on the website of the host institution: http://www.nms.edu.in/cie/

Country: Mexico

Location: Cuernavaca

Campus: SUNY Brockport

Term(s): Fall, Winter, Spring, Summer
Language of Instruction: English; Spanish

Program Description: Choosing to learn Spanish in Cuernavaca, Mexico is a very exciting decision for many reasons. Cuernavaca is known internationally as the "City of Eternal Spring" because of its nearly perfect climate - the city boasts year round temperatures of 75 to 80 degrees. Cuernavaca is ideally located in central Mexico within easy reach of Mexico City, Teotihuacan, Acapulco, Puebla, Taxco, and many other fascinating places.

Students on The College at Brockport’s program will study at Universidad Internacional (UNINTER). Students choosing to enroll in the Spanish Language Immersion program through Brockport will study at UNINTER’s Center for Linguistic and Multicultural Studies (CLMS), which was founded in 1980 with a mission to teach the Spanish language and Mexican culture exclusively to foreign students. In 1997, UNINTER expanded and opened its doors to Mexican students seeking their undergraduate and graduate degrees. This created the opportunity for international students to complete work toward their undergraduate studies in Mexico outside the Spanish Language. Students on Brockport’s program can also choose an internship option.

Country: Australia
Location: Sydney
Campus: SUNY Brockport
Term(s): Summer
Language of Instruction: English
Program Description: Macquarie University began in 1964. It spreads over 135 hectares of bushland in the Sydney suburb of North Ryde, with more than 29,000 students enrolled. This includes approximately 6,000 international students from more than 80 countries studying onshore and over 1,000 students studying offshore. More than 150 student clubs and societies make it easy to meet new friends. Access to Macquarie Centre and other suburbs is easy and fast via the excellent road and public transport systems. Downtown Sydney is also only a 45 minute journey by bus, or 25 minute journey by car. Macquarie has earned its title as Australia's Innovative University and is a world-class place to study. The quality and range of studies, facilities and resources generally exceed expectations of new and existing students.
The Brockport Program at Macquarie University offers you the opportunity to:
- Live and study in one of the world's most rewarding and cosmopolitan educational environments,
- Receive instruction in small classes, seminars and tutorials from members of the faculty at Macquarie University,
- Choose (and be guaranteed - before you leave the US) the coursework you want/need from an almost limitless variety of disciplines,
- Select a part time internship placement program in a wide range of public sector organizations (if you would like to combine this opportunity for credit along with your coursework),
- Total integration with Australian students

Term(s): Summer, Winter Session
Language of Instruction: English, Arabic (for language and literature)

Program Description: This program is temporarily suspended. Please contact the James M. Clark Center for International Education if you would like additional information.

Founded in 1919, The American University Cairo (AUC) is located in Cairo, the capital of Egypt, and the largest city in Africa and the Middle East. AUC’s academic programs are organized into three schools: Business, Economics and Communication; Humanities and Social Sciences; and Sciences and Engineering. Most classes are offered in English.

During the AUC summer session students can choose from a wide range of courses and can earn 3-7 credits. Every effort is made to offer courses of special interest to study abroad students, such as Islamic art and architecture, Egyptology, Arab society, and Middle East-oriented courses in history, economics, and management. Intensive courses at all levels in modern standard Arabic and in Egyptian colloquial Arabic are also offered during the summer session by AUC’s Arabic Language Institute.

The Winter Session provides additional opportunities to students from AUC and abroad to take intensive courses for academic credit. Winter Session courses are normally offered during the first three weeks of January for at total of three credits.

For both summer and winter sessions, extracurricular activities are planned for the students and faculty, including trips and cultural events such as performances of Arabic music and art shows. An informal athletic program offers basketball, volleyball, tennis, soccer, and table tennis. Seminars and special lectures by distinguished visitors are also an occasional part of the Summer and Winter Sessions. Student support services include on-site orientation, health counseling clinics, cross-cultural advisement through student services office, and a wide range of student organizations and activities. There are outstanding library and media facilities. Housing is on campus.

GREECE

Humanities I in Athens
Country: Greece
Location: Athens
Campus: SUNY Geneseo
Term(s): Summer
Language of Instruction: English

Program Description: Humanities I is a required course for Geneseo students, part of the core curriculum. It satisfies the Western Civilization general education requirement of SUNY. Based on great works, the course examines the search for moral, social, and political alternatives and meaning in the institutions, culture, and literature of Western Civilization from its beginnings to 1600. Students taking Hum 1 in Athens for four weeks are not only made intimate with the published works of the period, they can actually experience the location of so much of the course's content in Athens and through field trips. There is ample free time to explore Athens and its surroundings and to take trips to places like the Greek Islands or the Peloponnesus. Students reside in apartments, shared by three to five students, in the center of Athens and within a short walking distance from the Acropolis. Students may cook in their own apartment kitchens or eat quick food (such as souvlaki, the Greek equivalent to a burger).

Eligibility Requirements: The course is primarily directed at Geneseo students but others may apply. Students must be in good standing with no outstanding financial obligations to the college and an acceptable disciplinary record.

Credits: 4 undergraduate

Application Deadline: October 15

Summer in Greece
Country: Greece
Location: Glyfada and Athens
Campus: Stony Brook University
Term(s): Summer
Language of Instruction: English

Program Description: Dates: May 25- June 21
Study where western civilization began; immerse yourself in the culture and the land that introduced many of the ideas that we in the Western world hold dear to our hearts. Walk among the hallow pathways where Aristotle and Plato talked and discussed rhetoric, an important tool in today's manager's skill sets. More importantly understand that rhetoric is more than words: it is emotions, it is feelings, and it is communications!

Ancient Greece, in particular Athens, is keystone to understanding Western culture, science, philosophy, society, theater, literature, mathematics, art and our form of democracy. Fortunately many of the actual locations where these events and dialogues took place are accessible to the public. By integrating the historical location and activities that have taken place there into an educational program that teaches international business, entrepreneurship, ethics and innovation, students experience the concept from a physical perspective and are immersed in the environment. Students will gain an understanding of a different culture and learn the historical context of that culture.

Program Highlights –
-Evening Tour of Athens
-Dinner & dancing at an Authentic Greek Taverna
-Acropolis and Acropolis Museum
-Sites along the base of the Acropolis
-Ancient Agora and Roman Agora
-National Archaeological Museum
-Lycabettus Hill and funicular
- Ancient Delphi, the Oracle, Arachova Village

Humanities I, Philosophy and Religion: Mediterranean Roots

Country: Greece

Location: Greece (Crete and Athens); Italy (Rome and Florence)

Campus: SUNY Geneseo

Term(s): Summer

Language of Instruction: English

Program Description: This six-credit, five-week program, called Mediterranean Roots, consists of a) Humanities I (HUMN 220), a four-credit course that is required for all Geneseo students that also satisfies SUNY’s Western Civilization general education requirement, and b) Philosophy and Religion in Ancient Mediterranean (PHIL 288), a two-credit general education course. Humanities I examines the search for moral, social, and political alternatives and meaning in the institutions, culture, and literature of Western Civilization from its beginnings to 1600. The two-unit elective course examines the philosophical and religious traditions of the ancient near east, Greece and Rome. Students taking these courses are not only made intimate with some of the great works of the period, they also have the unique opportunity to be at the corresponding location where the era flourished: in Crete during the study of ancient civilizations, in Athens for the classical Greek civilization, in Rome for the Greco-Roman era, in Florence for Medieval times and the Renaissance. Several field trips to such places as Knossos, Mycenae and Pompeii, along with visits to museums and side trips to renowned places provide for an additional uniqueness to what can be the educational experience of a lifetime.

Eligibility Requirements: Students must be in good academic standing with an acceptable disciplinary record or pending disciplinary hearings. Geneseo students are given preference, although non-Geneseo students are welcome to apply.

The Renaissance: Presence of the Past (Humanities)

Country: Italy

Location: Florence and Rome

Campus: Rockland Community College

Term(s): Summer

Language of Instruction: English

Program Description: This interdisciplinary course based in Florence and Rome focuses on the achievements of the writers, painters, sculptors, and architects of the Italian Renaissance. In Florence, students will analyze the literature and art of the 14th and 15th centuries by reading the works of Dante, Boccaccio, and Petrarch, and by visiting the city's great museums including the Uffizi, the Bargello, and the Academia. Students typically will also see Giotto's Bell Tower, the Baptistery, the Cathedral of Florence (whose dome by Brunelleschi dominates the city), as well as other historically significant churches: Santa Croce, San Lorenzo, Santa Maria Novella, which both house great art and stand as architectural monuments of the age. Our study tour continues in Rome, where we will study the High Renaissance as a progression from the Florentine Renaissance. Here our focus will be the prose and poetry of the late 15th and early 16th centuries, as well as the painting, sculpture, and architecture commissioned by the Vatican. We will explore St. Peter's Basilica, which is crowned by Michelangelo's dome, tour the Vatican museums, which include the Sistine Chapel, and visit St. Peter in Chains, the church that houses Michelangelo's Moses. While this course supplies the academic foundation for the Italian Renaissance, it also offers a context for experiencing another time. The historical monuments of Florence and Rome are visual reminders of one of the greatest periods of human achievement and, literally, bring the Renaissance to life.

Eligibility Requirements: Freshman - Senior, can be audited also, 2.5 GPA

Language and Culture in Oaxaca, Mexico
Country: Mexico
Location: Oaxaca
Campus: SUNY Fredonia
Term(s): Summer
Language of Instruction: Spanish
Program Description: SUNY Fredonia and Ollin Tlahtoalli Centro de Lenguas y Cultura Mexicana have created a full time study abroad summer program for students interested in an intense cultural experience. This program offers so much more than typical summer studyprograms. The name of the language center is composed of two Nahuatl words "Ollin" and "Tlahtoalli" which mean movement and language respectively; it is a way to honor the ongoing process of language change...Nahuatl is an indigenous language to central Mexico where it is spoken by more than 1.5 million people, some people still use Nahuatl in Oaxaca too. Their mission includes the preservation of endangered Mexican indigenous languages, and the teaching of Spanish within a Mexican cultural framework and the promotion of Mexican culture and traditions. For six weeks students will live with families in the city of Oaxaca, and attend personalized instruction in groups of two or three students. Our aim is to increase our students’ understanding and appreciation of Mexican values, traditions and behaviors which can sometimes be a mystery to outsiders. We do this through carefully selected readings and presentations along with class discussions. Students seeking a volunteer experience can work with the local indigenous population in their community programs.

Comparative Social Policy in Amsterdam

Country: Netherlands
Location: Amsterdam
Campus: SUNY Geneseo
Term(s): Summer
Language of Instruction: English

Program Description: Travel to Amsterdam, the Netherlands, to explore how Dutch attitudes toward social policy differ from those of the United States, and how these differences explain success or failure of social policy outcomes. Students may choose one of two 3-credit hour Sociology courses. In SOCL 102, Introduction to Social Problems and Policy, we discuss contemporary social problems, including macro-problems (e.g., the economy, politics, inequality), and micro-problems (e.g., crime, health care). We will also explore the relationship between the two. SOCL 378, Senior Seminar in sociology- Study Abroad in Amsterdam, meets the seminar requirement for sociology majors at SUNY-Geneseo. Students are expected to produce a research paper and present their findings. The emphasis in both courses will be on comparing and contrasting the ways in which American and European countries deal with major social issues. As a leader in European social policy initiatives, the Netherlands offers a unique opportunity to explore the most progressive social policy approaches in Europe.

Eligibility Requirements: Students must be in good academic standing and have completed at least one college-level introductory level Sociology course. Geneseo students are given preference, but non-Geneseo students are welcome to apply.

POLAND

Experiencing the New Europe
Country: Poland
Location: Wroclaw
Campus: SUNY Brockport
Term(s): Summer

Language of Instruction: English

Program Description: Experiencing the New Europe is a month long interdisciplinary summer program that explores how large processes of geopolitical change—the aftermath of World War II, ethnic and national upheavals, the fall of Communism, democratization, European integration—play out in the local setting of a European city and its inhabitants. The interactive curriculum combines classroom study with travel in Central Europe. The home base of the program is the beautiful and lively city of Wroclaw, located in southwest Poland. Excursions in Krakow, Prague and Berlin and the Auschwitz-Berkenau concentration camps are among the many unforgettable learning experiences. The program consists of two interdisciplinary courses. The first course, "Explorations of Modernity" explores the culture and collective experience of people in Central Europe. The second course, "Urban Research Seminar" introduces students to methods of qualitative ethnographic research, which will then be used to study the changes in Wroclaw's urban life and multiethnic culture. Examining architectural remains and stories of the city's inhabitants, students spend most of their time outside of the classroom.

Islamic Spain
Country: Spain
Location: Spain and Morocco
Campus: SUNY Brockport
Term(s): Summer
Language of Instruction: English
Program Description: For nearly eight centuries—711 to 1492—Muslim kingdoms ruled large portions of the Iberian Peninsula, creating a rich cultural and historical legacy, which has profoundly shaped both Europe and the Islamic world. Islamic Spain (al-Andalus in Arabic) was an important point of cultural and scholarly contact by which the classical Greek heritage in science and philosophy first began to reach universities in Cluny, Paris and England. Even more, the musical forms, the Arabic courtly tradition of “chaste love” poetry, and the mystical philosophy of the Sufis of al-Andalus all found their way across the Pyrenees, influencing the music of the troubadours, the courtly love tradition, and Christian religious orders in the Europe that lay beyond. And with the gradual conquest of Islamic Spain by the Christian states of the north, Muslims steeped in this rich culture migrated across the Mediterranean, establishing enclaves that have transformed society in several places in North Africa.

SWITZERLAND

Survey of International Organizations
Country: Switzerland
Location: Fribourg
Campus: SUNY Plattsburgh
Term(s): Summer
Language of Instruction: English
Program Description: This Survey of International Organizations (SIO) provides students with an overview of the goals, functioning and significance of key international organizations in today’s fast changing global environment. The course examines the achievements and failures of some of the world’s most important economic, political and humanitarian organizations from an interdisciplinary perspective. The goal of the course is to equip participants with a well-rounded set of analytical tools that help them assess both the future role of international organizations in the 21st century and their past and present effectiveness in addressing important societal challenges.

The structure of the SIO revolves around regular coursework and relevant field visits. The interdisciplinary course is organized into modules in various areas of study, including economics, political science, international law, and sociology. Class meetings are held four days a week, with a fifth day of each week reserved for a field trip allowing students to see the day-to-day operations and meet with distinguished representatives of major international organizations, such as the United Nations, the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, the International Labor Organization, the World Trade Organization, the World Health Organization, and the International Committee of the Red Cross (all based in Geneva), and the E.U. Parliament in Strasbourg, France.

The SIO offers students an intellectually stimulating, innovative and diverse program of study in a safe environment, with maximum exposure to the cultural and political life of contemporary Switzerland, Europe and the world of international diplomacy.

Contemporary Social Issues
Country: United Kingdom
Location: London (England)
Campus: Cayuga Community College
Term(s): Winter
Language of Instruction: English

Program Description: Two-week study where landmark attractions of London, Stonehenge, Bath and Greenwich are our classroom as we trace the history, culture, and traditions of Great Britain. Visits and lectures explore the causes and effects of social classes through the ages, from the extravagance of the royals to the struggles of workers, serfs and slaves. We also look at how Britain—once the seat of the global British Empire — has influenced the world by imposing its ways and laws on non-British subjects.

Aggressive walking and stair climbing are a part of this program.

Eligibility Requirements: Open to all students

Credits: 3 undergraduate

Application Deadline: October 29

British Perspectives on the American Revolution
Country: United Kingdom
Location: London (England)
Campus: SUNY Brockport
Term(s): Summer
Language of Instruction: English

Program Description: British Perspectives on the American Revolution summer program in London provides an opportunity for both undergraduate and graduate students to understand the meanings of the American Revolution from British perspectives. Some in England offered moral and financial support as well as revolutionary theories and ideas to the colonists in their rebellion against English domination. Others fully supported the extension of British imperial strength in its colonies. Many of the most prominent English writers and politicians of the last half of the eighteenth century weighed in on this important debate. Their writings offer fascinating insights into the larger significance of the American Revolution.
